

WOMEN CANDIDATES APPEAL FOR ENTIRE TICKET AND TELL WHO ARE ELIGIBLE AS VOTERS

Miss Boswell Declares Citizens Now Face Wonderful Opportunity—Miss Mathews Urges Undivided Responsibility in City Government and Gives Pledge.

By Helen Varick Boswell.

Miss Helen Varick Boswell.

Those who have considered the issues of the campaign and are prepared to talk the matter over with their neighbors in order to bring them around to their way of thinking, are next interested in the question, who is entitled to vote in this municipal election? The answer to this, any one who is an American citizen, age of twenty-one or over, and has resided in the State for one year, has had a four months' residence in the election district, and has registered.

When is a woman an American citizen? This is one of the questions which frequently confront women. All unmarried women born in the United States, all foreign-born women who have married American citizens and all foreign-born spinsters and widows who have been naturalized, are American citizens. Foreign-born women married to American citizens are only permitted to vote when they have lived in the United States five years.

Voters must go to the polls between 6 o'clock in the morning and 6:30 in the evening on Election Day. When the voter reaches her polling place, she is handed a ballot which has been prepared and printed under the direction of public officials and at public expense. This ballot contains the names and party affiliations of all the candidates for the offices to be filled.

In order to obtain her ballot, the voter must give her name and residence to an election inspector in her polling place. She goes into the booth, marks her ballot with a black pencil provided for that purpose, gives it to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, who then, in her presence, drops it into the box.

The citizens of New York have a big responsibility and a big opportunity. It is their responsibility as to whether or not they will continue in office for four years more men who have so completely failed to provide for the best interests of our city and our citizens, or will elect to office the Coalition candidates, whose records insure a square deal for all.

The opportunity ahead of the citizens of New York is a wonderful one. They have the opportunity of making New York the best governed city in our country by electing to office the Coalition candidates, who will make wide and complete provision for the future of New York.

Shall we go forward or backward? Next Tuesday, YOU must decide.

By Annie Mathews.

Miss Annie Mathews.

And now we come to the question of undivided responsibility. This is not a hackneyed phrase, but a condition which should appeal to every voter, as it is his protection for affairs in the municipal government. It means simply sweeping one party into power from the head to the tail of the ticket. With this condition, this one party alone is responsible for the good or evil of the Government it is entrusted to manage.

The issues of this campaign are large ones. My own personal issue on which I am running for Register of New York County is "Do you want a business woman to run a business office?" But the issues of the Democratic Party are mine, inasmuch as I expect to be one of the number on whom the voters will bestow this undivided responsibility.

Undivided responsibility will mean tranquility in the running of municipal affairs. It will mean a co-ordination of ideas for a common end—the efficient management of the city and the protection of the welfare and health of its people. It is a great trust and a sacred one.

We have talked from the drop of the hat to these, the closing days of the campaign, concerning perpetual 5-cent fares, proper schooling and school conditions of our children, an efficient health and welfare department, Home Rule—always to be spelled in capital letters as it is a vital issue and cannot be over emphasized.

All of these are Democratic issues, sacred to the man who leads our ticket, Mayor John F. Hylan, and equally sacred to the lesser candidates, including myself. My pledge, as the pledge of every candidate on our ticket, is to aid in seeing that this programme is faithfully kept and worked out to the advantage of our citizens in this great metropolis.

My pledge for my own individual office is that I will run it in an efficient, economical manner, and respond fully to the trust which the voters place in me.

It has been a heated campaign, but the fires were kindled in righteousness on the part of the Democratic Party, and with the belief that the intensity of their flame will purify.

I ask every voter when he or she goes to the polls on Tuesday to consider well this question of undivided responsibility and what it will mean on January 1, and vote accordingly.

PRALL OPPOSES ELECTIVE SCHOOL BOARD FOR CITY

Also Opposes "Financial Independence"—Fears Politics and Extravagance.

Financial independence, and an elected instead of an appointed Board of Education, were opposed by Annine S. Prall, President of the Board, at a lecture at Washington Irving High School last evening.

Mr. Prall also defended the record of the present board in the matter of part time and of school construction, and declared reports of bad conditions in the schools were exaggerated for political purposes.

The lecture was under the auspices of the Bureau of Lectures. Persons are enrolled for the series of lectures as members of the "Society for Self-Improvement," and are given credit for each one attended. At the end of the season a fully punched card entitles the holder to free admission to a concert or other entertainment, and constitutes him a graduate of the "society."

Credit was given for attendance on President Prall's recital of the accomplishments of the present board.

"We need financial independence," said Mr. Prall, "but it would run against two rocks—the constitutional tax limit and politicalizing the schools."

"If the board were financially independent it should be elected so as to be responsible to the people; and if it were elected, the schools would be thrown head over heels into politics."

Mr. Prall referred to the report of a Committee of Women's Organizations on the Schools made last June as "the first gun pulled" in the campaign this year.

He blamed the war and labor troubles for the delay of the present Administration in school construction.

"The average increase in the schools for the last ten years," he said, "has been 18,500 a year. In September, 1921, 543 children were added to the register, or about 35,000 more than the average. That has materially affected the so-called part time."

Readjustment of salaries of the Administrative force of the department and of the janitorial force, and provision for retirement of employees on pensions, were among the acts of the present board to which the President called attention.

"They Satisfy"

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unnamed tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism, and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Rigg's Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's For the Gums cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

Brush Your Teeth With Forhan's—How to Use It

Use it twice daily, year in and year out. Wet your brush in cold water, place a half-inch of the refreshing, healing paste on it, then brush your teeth up and down. Use a rolling motion to clean the crevices. Brush the grinding and back surfaces of the teeth. Massage your gums with your Forhan-coated brush—gently at first until the gums harden, then more vigorously. If the gums are very tender, massage with the finger, instead of the brush. If gum shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.
